

Group visits at The Danish War Museum

Krigsmuseet
Danish War Museum

Nationalmuseet
National Museum of Denmark

Authorized tour guides are welcome to offer guided tours for groups at the Danish War Museum. We recommend that groups announce their arrival before the visit to the booking office.

It is also possible to visit the museum with groups outside normal opening hours, for a fee. For this, reservation is mandatory.

Reservation is made at: krigsmuseet@natmus.dk or tel. 0045 4120 6080.

Before The Visit

Bus parking: Parking and boarding can be done in front of the museum's main entrance; Tøjhusgade 3.

The guide must pay special attention to cyclists, when guests are stepping out of the bus.

For official bus parking we refer to Christiansborg Slotsplads.

Before entering the museum, the guide must inform the group about rules and practical matters, including that it is possible to pay with € and $ in the museum shop. But only with banknotes, NOT with coins and change is given back in Danish currency.

During the museum's opening hours, groups have, unless other is agreed in advanced, access via Tøjhusgade 3 or Søren Kirkegårds Plads.

Outside opening hours, groups have, unless other is agreed in advanced, access via Tøjhusgade 3.

Krigsmuseet Danish War Museum

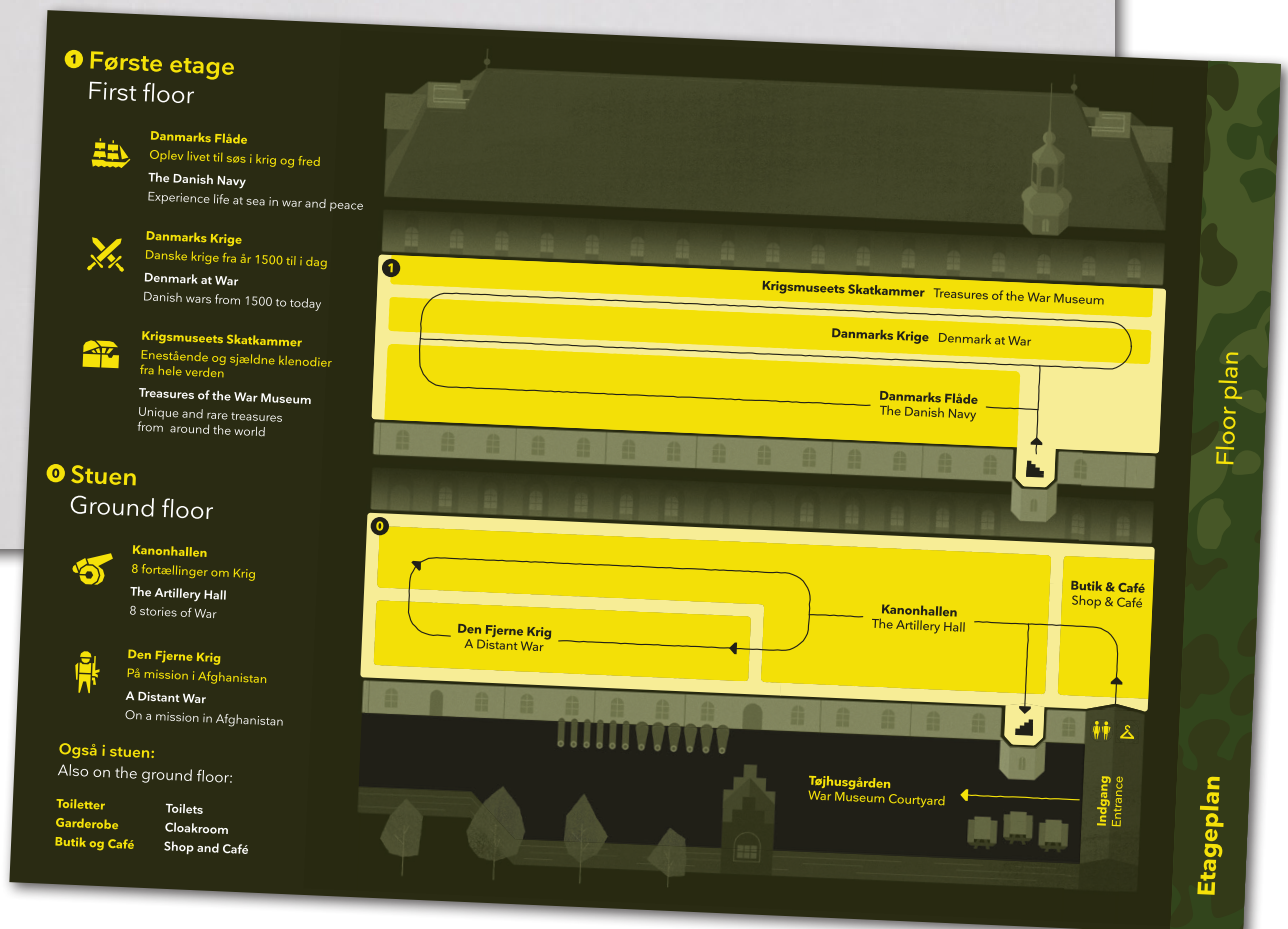

During The Visit

Before starting the tour, the guide must inform the group about the rules of the museum:

- Objects at the museum must not be touched. With the exception of the objects in the exhibition: "The Distant War".
- The guide must keep the visitors in the group together.
- A guided tour must last a maximum of 50 minutes, unless otherwise is agreed in advance.
- Speak softly and show consideration for other guests and groups.
- Do not go in front of another guided groups.
- Food and drink may not be brought to the exhibitions, but these can be enjoyed in the courtyard.
- Intoxicated behavior is not accepted.
- Photographing without the use of a flash is allowed with a mobile phone or a handheld camera
- Recommendation from our staff must be complied with.

After The Visit

After the visit, the guide may help the group with any translation in the shop

Krigsmuseet Danish War Museum